

JSPRS Award 2024

In order to promote young scientists and students, the Japan Society of Photogrammetry and Remote Sensing (JSPRS) Award is given to a number of young authors less than or equal to 35 who have submitted excellent full papers as the first author and given excellent presentation at each ACRS. The certificate will be presented to each awardee at the closing ceremony of ACRS. JSPRS Awards are sponsored by JSPRS. The Chair of the committee is Professor Junichi Susaki, Kyoto University, Japan.

JSPRS Award Committee requires no a priori application for candidates. The committee has two-stage screening. The first screen is to carefully review full papers submitted and select candidates of the award from several scientific viewpoints, e.g. originality, feasibility and transferability. The second one is to evaluate the presentations.
